

Student Council Executive Committee Structure

Our Student Council Executive Committee consists of four consortiums, each with its own focus in service of our school and community.

The School Tone Consortium (STC) is in charge of discipline and bearing, and promotes the council ethos among Councillors so that all of us continue to be examples worthy of our SC roles. The STC inspires Councillors to take pride in our duties and to strive to exceed expectations in our leadership and service. We are conscious that we do not just represent ourselves but also the council and the school, as we serve the larger student body and school stakeholders.

The School Spirit Consortium (SSC) is in charge of school morale and school pride. The SSC stewards and sustains our soaring school spirit, and ensures the campus remains energised with camaraderie and life. SSC looks into tightening the bonds among students, through events they organise in partnership with other student leadership groups, such as the CCA leaders. The SSC heads are the ones behind our annual Teachers' Day Celebration, for instance.

The Student Well-being Consortium (SWC) is the listening ear of fellow NASians. They are in sync with the pulse of NASians, through regular gathering of feedback from our fellow students. SWC constantly works to create an even better school environment for everyone. For example, the SWC champions the green movement on campus by mounting posters to create awareness and encourage all to go green through reducing food waste and electricity usage, to encourage NASians to do our part for environmental conservation.

Last but not least, we have the Outreach Consortium (OC). The OC aims to connect NASians to communities in need around Singapore. The OC heads actively partner different organisations and beneficiaries to hatch opportunities and organise events that allow students to volunteer and bless lives beyond our school, so we can do our part as responsible, contributing citizens.

Nurturing Leaders Through Reflective Action

Leadership is service. As a student councillor of Ngee Ann Secondary School, we carry out duties to facilitate the smooth-running of school operations and activities. Student Councillors are also encouraged to embark on our student-initiated projects every year. This is a valuable platform for councillors to contribute not only to the school, but also to our community by working with various organisations. These projects hone our event organisation and time management skills, as they may span weeks or even months. Through the projects, we derive a strong sense of purpose and accomplishment. We are endlessly blessed in being able to give to the community through our humble effort. We are grateful we get to serve.

Teamwork is also critical and a value we place a premium on. It is important for councillors across all levels and different classes to be able to work together. SC Cohesion Camp and SC Bonding Day are organised for this reason to gel and galvanise all councillors to learn through games and reflection. In the process, we deepen our understanding of one another and tighten our bonds and chemistry as a team to better serve the school community.
